This is a risk warning given in accordance with the provisions of the Civil Liability Act 2002. Paddling in a dragon boat is a dangerous recreational activity which involves a number of significant risks of physical harm. Dragon Boating has a number of obvious risks and a number of risks which are not so obvious, but which are nonetheless significant risks of physical harm. In engaging in dragon boating, participants are warned of the following risks: death by drowning, death, permanent disability, paralysis, shoulder dislocation, rotator cuff injuries, broken limbs, blisters, back complaints (including disc prolapse), bruising, needle stick injuries, cuts, cuts from broken glass, viral and bacterial infections from water pollution, shark attack, hypothermia, dehydration, sunstroke, skin cancer, exhaustion and lack of concentration. A number of the risks identified above are clearly obvious risks and are inherent in the sport, whereas a number of the risks identified above arise from the environment in which the sport is conducted (for example, where and how we load the boats, use of a slippery ramp etc). None of the risks should be ignored or taken lightly.

If you can't swim 50m fully clothed, please contact the session coordinator and request a life jacket.

Each participant is to complete and sign overleaf to accept these terms.
